

the name

Faith Patrick

Jamie Dronyk

the name gets hard easy. i feel him thru his jeans

im not used to this my last man had the problem of getting it up theres no love between us but were ready his parts are short and thick

"it likes attention," he says staring down at me my mouth is dry, wed been drinking, i have no saliva a real shame because i enjoy oral

we switch positions. he sits up and fingers me through a hole in the crotch of my pants its OK

"does it take a lot for you to get off?" he asks

i dont know what to say to this,
i answer something,

i don't know what to say to this,
i answer something,

his eyes are round and hungry not for me, for the moment i know it

over dinner we learned we are born on the same day thirteen years apart

i ask "do you feel guilty because of god?"

his fingers inside me, he says "yes" walking home from dinner he asked

"are you a lady?"

i knew what he meant by this i smiled at him, my best smile, then

"not really," i answered tongue on him

"you are making me question," he says i tell him my last lover, a gay man,

said that too

when he cums he is behind me, my belly pressed flat, sticking to the kitchen table

its quick

"sorry" he groans

his eyes roll in his skull his knees buckle, "sorry" i can hear him from the kitchen i wet a dish towel under water and wipe him from the floor

he watches me do this still pulling himself wherever i walk the air is nice and cool between my legs i kiss him when he leaves and tell him if he comes back to town to get in touch i mean it

the name
is a 45 page hand typed hand bound book the book contains one story the name was written in 2015 by Faith Patrick and Jamie Dronyk.